

WILEY X PRESCRIBES RX INSERTS

GTW speaks with leading eyewear company Wiley X to find out the benefits of choosing eyewear with a prescription insert as an alternative to having the prescription in the outer lens.

If you need prescription lenses, choosing a Wiley X model with an RX insert provides you with many advantages compared to models where the prescription lenses are built directly into the frame (full frame design).

First of all it is easier and less expensive to replace an outer lens, which has no prescription and with up to five different front lens colour options you'll be able to adjust to any given light condition. Without the insert anyone can wear the eyewear making it a flexible option. Despite the insert the eyewear is still certified to Wiley X's military ballistic standard whilst the inserts can fit into a variety of different styles, giving you amazing flexibility.

The PTX insert can be used in the following models: Saber Advanced, WX Vapor, WX Rogue and WX Rogue Comm. In other words – one insert equals lots of opportunities! GTW

360 degree Nosepiece

When wearing shooting eyewear with the prescription mounted behind the lens, it is vital that you can fully adjust the nosepiece. The nosepiece on Wiley X models when using a prescription insert is 360 degree adjustable, which will allow the wearer to adjust it to his/hers liking. A wire core makes this nosepiece fully adjustable. Specially developed rubber on top of the wire core guarantees a superior grip during almost any activity. The rubber is also very robust and so comfortable that the glasses can be worn all day without any discomfort.
